

Puss in Boots

(Natália Grmanová)

Father Miller had three sons. He was old so he decided that he will share his possessions to his sons. First son got a mill, second son got the donkey and the third got the cat. Brothers were smiling that he inherited only the cat so they put Johnny three coopers and cast him out of the house with the cat. But this cat was unusual, he knew to speak. But Johnny did not know that the cat can speak and when the cat saw how is Johnny so sad he spoke to him and promised him that as long as they will be together they will be fine. The cat asked him to sew new boots for the money that he got from brothers and even the cat had to pay one and a half cooper. How much did Johnny pay for boots? Puss liked his new boots. On the way he met an unknown man who told him that the king of the neighbouring kingdom loves quails. The cat went to the king and agreed that he will bring him quails. For each one quail he will give him 2 coopers but he will give him for every 5th 7 coopers. How many coopers did the king give him when he brought 15 on Monday and 10 quails on Tuesday? Puss gave money Johnny and they divided them in half. How much money did the cat give Johnny?

They both enjoyed that they earned some money. They did not enjoy for a long time because on the way the robbers robbed them. This left them with barely a living. Johnny was glad to be carrying clever cat, which if they were in misery always thought of something and he created a plan to earn a few money. 😊
